An electronics engineer in the Forest Service uses math, physics, and computers to design circuits, write programs, and build instruments to answer questions about how our forests function.

Dr. John Frank
Electronics Engineer
Ph.D., University of Wyoming
USDA Forest Service engineer

http://www.naturalinquirer.org