A research forester studies how forests respond to disturbances. I am interested in trying to predict how trees grow, which tree species grow best, and how both plants and animals respond to events such as fire, drought, timber harvesting, and people!

Dr. Callie Schweitzer
Research forester
Ph.D., Penn State University
USDA Forest Service scientist