

Some scientists study the places where animals live.