

What You See Is Not What You Get

1. The usual kind or amount. The number gotten by dividing the sum of two or more quantities by the number of quantities added.
2. Anything that covers like a roof. On a tree, the area of leaves that cover the ground.
3. The system within the body that protects the body from disease; includes white blood cells and antibodies.
4. Relating to vision or to light.
5. An amount or portion.
6. The property of casting back light, heat, sound, etc.
7. Two or more things that are connected in some fashion.
8. Groups of organisms that resemble one another in appearance, behavior, chemical processes, and genetic structure.
9. The upper green section of a tree with leaves or needles.
10. Invisible rays of light lying beyond the violet end of the spectrum.