

Natural Inquirer Wilderness Benefits Edition
It's Elemental My Dear

Who or What Am I ?

1. I am a group of elected officials that make important decisions about the laws of our country. I am made up of two parts, the Senate and the House of Representatives. What am I?

---
2. I am a type of ecosystem found in Arctic climates. I am typically flat and treeless. I am covered with grasses, mosses, and small shrubs. What am I?

---
3. Scientists use numerous techniques to collect data when they conduct social science research studies. I am made up of a list of questions. Scientists use me to collect information about people. What am I?

---
4. I am a special type of area set aside by Congress. I am preserved in a wild and natural condition. Large numbers of people visit me because of my natural beauty. What am I?

---
5. Gates of the Arctic National Park and Preserve is located in the Arctic Circle in northern Alaska. The area is inhabited by small villages of native people. I am the closest village to the entrance for the Park. Many visitors come to me to visit the wilderness. What am I?

---
6. I describe the way that native people living near the Arctic Circle live. I'm a lifestyle that involves using small amounts of resources and working only to get the things that are necessary for people to survive, like food, clothing, and shelter. What am I?

---